A partner in Waller's Healthcare Department, Nathan Kottkamp provides counsel on compliance with federal and state healthcare regulations and day-to-day operational issues. His experience includes hospitals and health systems, academic medical centers, behavioral healthcare services providers, specialty physician practices and post-acute and long-term care providers. Additionally, Nathan represents healthcare providers before professional and licensing boards, and he has successfully obtained certificates of public need for dozens of critical projects ranging from service expansions to the development of new hospitals and ambulatory surgery centers.

Nathan has earned the CIPP/US designation as a Certified Information Privacy Professional from the International Association of Privacy Professionals, and clients rely on his insight and experience with HIPAA and other data privacy and security matters. He has been recognized as a "Leading Lawyer" for Cyber Law in Virginia by Legal 500 U.S. and as a "Rising Star" by Super Lawyers.

Nathan also dedicates his time and experience to public health issues. He is the founder and chair of National Healthcare Decisions Day, which educates and empowers both the public and healthcare providers about the importance of advance care planning. He is also a member of the Advance Directives Task Force Committee of the Supreme Court of Virginia Commission on Mental Health Law Reform.

Prior to joining Waller, Nathan practiced in the Richmond office of McGuireWoods from 2001 to 2019.
